

Tragedy and Aftermath in Tajikistan - by Doug Chabot

Submitted by Doug Chabot on Tue, 10/23/2012 - 15:43

The week of March 19 was a bad one for Central Asia. Heavy snow followed by a downpour of rain introduced their most widespread avalanche cycle in memory. Tajikistan, northern Pakistan and northern Afghanistan had avalanches hit roads and villages, many in the dead of night.

Chabot Tajikistan TAR.pdf

Publication

The Avalanche Review

Date of Publication

Monday 10/1/12