This small wind slab was triggered by skiers descending from Imp Peak in the southern Madison Range. Although small, this slide is bull's eye information that larger slides are possible on wind loaded slopes. Photo: S. Knowles

Advisory Region
Southern Madison
Longitude
-111.46W

Latitude
45.00N
Avalanche Details: Skier triggered wind slab, Southern Madison Range
Forecast link: GNFAC Avalanche Forecast for Thu Dec 6, 2018
Southern Madison, 2018-12-05